Project Description

At Zenith Contract Services, no job is too small when it comes to supporting our valued clients.

In October 2024, we completed a project for a long-standing client, an ice cream manufacturer based in Powys, that required external line marking at their premises.

To meet the client's needs, we coordinated with a specialist subcontractor who applied thermoplastic paint - also known as hot pour - an ideal solution for durable, weather-resistant line marking.

The work was completed in just one day, minimising disruption to the client's operations and ensuring the external areas were clearly marked for improved safety and traffic management.
